Kaiser Operating Loss $13.1 Million For Six Months

VANCOUVER—Kaiser Resources to $2.80 (Canadian) per long ton had a consolidated net operating loss of $13.1 million for the first six months of 1971, or $1.31 per common share on sales of $29.0 million. It was announced today by C. L. Emerson, President.

"The first half financial results should not be taken as representative of future prospects," Emerson said, "since price increases have been agreed to by our Japanese customers and since significant improvements in mining practices and coal preparation plant operations have been effected. Cost performance at our Sparwood, B.C., mine has shown marked improvement reflecting extra effort by our employees and increased efficiency in operation of all facilities."

All the signs are now pointing in the right direction, and we believe that Kaiser Resources has turned the corner.

The new agreement with the Japanese steel industry, covering sales of the fifteen-month period, an average interim price increase equivalent to $2.50 (Canadian) per long ton and special cost assistance in the form of an average special price increase of $1.15 (U.S.) per long ton for the old underground mining operation and special price increases were actually begun on June 1, 1971, in the amount equivalent long ton complex were deferred.

A Liberal's Prayer

Trudeau is my shepherd, I shall not want,
He maketh me to lie down on park benches.

He leadeth me beside still factories,
He restoreth my doubts in the Conservatives and NDP.

He guideth me in the paths of unemployment,
Yea though I walk through the valley of the soup kitchens for my Liberal sake,

I shall still be hungry
I fear no evil for they are against me.

Bennett has annointed my income with taxes,
And my expenses over-run my salary.

Surely poverty and hard living shall follow me all the days of the Liberal administration and shall live in a rented house forever.

Just how the payments, which the commission estimates will run about $2 million a year, will be worked out will be ironed out in meetings of cable and regular TV representatives. But "the commission is at a dead end as policy the fact that the cable systems must pay."

The CRU released a document that was a mixture of a statement of policy and of proposals to overcome the cable situation that it had described earlier as a threat to the survival of Canadian broadcasting.

The regulatory agency said that cable is allowed to grow as it has, the existence of Canadian television is endangered.

The regulatory agency also ordered other safeguards for local Canadian television stations including deletion of certain programs and commercials of distant television stations carried on cable.

In addition, the commission recommended changes in federal income tax law that would forbid Canadian companies which buy advertising on U.S. television stations to write off the cost as a business expense.

These steps are designed to bolster the television industry, which has complained that U.S. stations carried on cable systems have made Canadian TV stations less attractive to advertisers and have threatened their income.

The softball game was an enjoyable affair for all of us who participated. I hope that the spectators enjoyed it as much.

Many people were involved in making the first visit of a Prime Minister to the Crows Nest Pass, as well as to the thousands of people who came out to meet and greet Mr. Trudeau so warmly. He, Mr. Trudeau so warmly, he also remembered "The Pass".

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

(Correspondent)

The Crows Nest Pass certainly where, which could organize such an impression on Prime Minister Trudeau.

His visit here on July 11 was one particularly impressed the Prime Minister.

The champion mine rescue team from Coleman Collieries also caught his interest since he had worked in underground mines in his earlier years.

"I can't recall when I had so much fun, met so many warm and friendly people and was so impressed with the various backgrounds of our fellow Canadians."

He described his visit as "a wonderful experience."

Any compliment to the Ethnic Food Fair would be inadequate. It was a remarkable event. I am who came out to meet and greet Mr. Trudeau so warmly. He, Mr. Trudeau so warmly, he also remembered "The Pass".

THE HOMEMAKER

Well the weather's finally seen fit to allow us to barbecue! So now's my chance to give you some barbecuing hints and recipes.

How To Make The Fire

When using a portable barbecue, line the firebox with aluminum foil and a 1-inch layer of gravel. This protects the firebox and makes cleaning up easier, provides ventilation for the fire, and reflects and retains heat, saving fuel. Pile charcoal briquets in the center in a pyramid about 12 inches in diameter and 5 or 6 inches high. Light the fire with a fire starter according to the manufacturer's directions and let it burn for 30 to 40 minutes. When the coals are covered with a gray ash, they are ready to arrange for barbecuing. (Set extra charcoal briquets around the edge to warm up before adding them to the fire.)

For grill-barbecuing — Gently pat the coals with fire tongs or a poker and arrange them 1/4 to 3/4 inch apart. (This reduces the flame-up from dripping fat.)

For spit-barbecuing — Knock the ash from the coals and bank them to the rear of the firebox. To catch the drippings, place a foil drip pan under the spit in front of the coals. To make the drip pan use heavy aluminum foil 18 inches wide. Cut the foil 5 inches longer than the meat and fold in half lengthwise. Turn up edges 1 1/2 inches. Miter corners and fold tips inside for reinforcement.

Barbecue Tips For Turkey and Chicken

- To cook poultry slowly and evenly, have grill 6 to 8 inches above the coals.
- Grease grill before using to help keep food from sticking to it.
- When cooking halves or cut-up poultry turn pieces frequently and baste with melted fat or barbecue sauce or French or Italian dressing.
- Use tongs rather than fork for turning to prevent loss of juices due to punctured skin.
- To aid browning sprinkle liberally with paprika to produce an even rich brown.

Turkey On The Outdoor Rotisserie

If your barbecue is equipped with a revolving spit, truss whole small turkey as for roasting. Do not try to barbecue a turkey over 10 pounds: the rotisserie and motor cannot take the weight. Make sure the turkey is balanced and revolves smoothly. Revolve over moderately hot coals until tender.

How Much Turkey Should You Buy?

For roasting stuffed, allow 1/2 to 3/4 lb. of whole, raw turkey per serving. For broiling or frying (without stuffing) allow 3/4 to 1 lb. Because barbecue cooking is influenced by so many variables—temperature, thickness and type of food, heat of fire, air temperature, humidity and breeze — it is difficult to give accurate cooking times! Until you are experienced, your best guide is to start testing for doneness at the minimum time suggested in any time range. You can give undercooked food a few minutes more cooking but once a food is overcooked it is too late to do anything about it.

Now for some yummy recipes for barbecue sauces.

Chicken BBQ Marinade

1/2 cup soy sauce
1/4 tsp ginger
1/3 cup white table wine
1 tsp. poultry seasoning
1 tsp. pepper
Mix soy sauce, wine, poultry seasoning, pepper and ginger, and pour evenly over chicken. Cover and refrigerate 30 min. or longer.

Drain chicken (save marinade). Place chicken over heated charcoal, barbecue until done, turning often. Use left-over marinade to baste chicken while it barbecues.

Soy Sauce Mixture For Turkey

1/2 cup soy sauce
1/2 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
Blend ingredients thoroughly and brush on turkey before oven roasting and once or twice during last half hour of cooking period if turkey is being cooked as oven or outdoor rotisserie.

NOTE: Barbecue sauces with sugar or ketchup browns and burns quickly, so use this type only during last half hour of cooking. Plain butter, oil, French dressing or simple basic sauce may be used at start of cooking.

Pamphlets on barbecue cooking are available free of charge at my office at Box 1356 in Pincher Creek or Box 38 Cardston.

Alberta's way to better living

financial assistance to industry: why?

Two reasons: to create job opportunities and to balance our economy. In the past, we have depended heavily on agriculture, oil and natural gas to create Alberta's income.

Today through financial assistance to secondary industry we will help create a different kind of industrial growth. This will mean that our "financial eggs" will not all be in one basket.

the alberta commercial corporation.

Alberta was the first province to set up a corporation of this kind. Basically ACC makes low interest loans available to eligible manufacturing concerns wishing to expand or locate throughout the province.

the incentives fund.

Alberta's smaller towns and cities will benefit by the creation of new industry within their borders. That's why a special Incentives Fund has been created to assist municipalities of under 50,000 people.

Loans are made to existing industrial concerns that want to expand, diversify or modernize present facilities. Or to new industry wishing to establish in these centers.

Incentive loans cannot exceed 1% of the approved capital costs or up to $300,000. And, these are forgivable loans.

loans to tourist facilities.

This program is designed to accelerate the growth of the tourist industry in Alberta. This is a continuing program offering individual loans as high as $500,000.

The Federal Republic Of West Germany

THE PRESS BUREAU AT BONN GERMANY

The palaces of the West German Bundestag parliament are very old and sometimes pointed. Cab-ing the president's podium, to back" but it never freely and often the left is the foreign diplomatic volun-for further information for section, with each country's place beyond use.
 I was informed by Alfred Schroeder, free lance writer, who writes for The Toronto Telegram, Vancouver Sun and several USA papers and regarded highly by his colleagues. A man with years of foreign reporting experience, it was his opinion Germany had the best press system in Europe. He said,
 "Following the cabinet - press question hour, each correspondent goes to his office and prepared his story for cable, telegraph, telephone or radio - telephone 'release'. All facilities are available in Bonn.
 There are 25 daily newspapers and magazine - newspapers in West Germany I was told, with circulations from two million down to 60,000.
 When the newspapers hit the street, they are bought as fast as the vendor can make change. A newspaper costs roughly 10 cents.
 Each German newspaper carries 'specialty features' besides regular news. One daily might feature finance, another industry, education, culture, music and so forth.
 Thus a German family might buy two or more papers daily to meet their literary taste. Businessmen and industrialists send their secretaries to buy papers as soon as they are available. These are scanned by executives daily and many deals are made immediately to compete against a rival business or price competition.
 For example, if a car manufacturer reads about the government buying equipment, he will immediately despatch his representative to Bonn to confer with the department planning to make the purchase.
 Thus the newspapers in Germany are doing a real service to their country in providing news of every facet of life from politics, international relations down to how many births that day in the West Berlin General Hospital, which is only one of 11 having 1600 beds.
 German government officials, industry, finance are very anxious to have German news published abroad. They feel it is important to their image as well as business.
 Communication domestically and abroad, the German feel, is one of the secrets of their political and economic success.

THE GERMAN WORLD OF FINANCE

The three large banks in West Germany are the Deutschebank, the Dresdner bank and the Commerz-bank, with local offices in Frankfurt. Besides these major banks there are private and savings banks through West Germany, which must carry the required assets, by law. These banks are generally owned by industry or union a man who invests their capital with good returns.

As no one finance purchases in West Germany, the customer goes to his bank, applies for a loan which is checked out with his or her employer, and if the applicant is accepted, he is given the money at a per cent interest, and p.p.y. for his merchandise.
 This is the usual procedure in purchasing an automobile.

The major banks mentioned above deal in industrial, international and domestic finance. The Commerzbank, which I visited, deals in the finance of the nation.

Frankfurt/Main (Hesse) is the financial centre of West Germany.
 The city has a population of 688,
 000, and the Rhein Main Airport, the largest in Germany and one of the largest in the world, is the biggest off centre for these tourist clientele persons around Germany. On the present time Air Canada and Lufthansa are in the town with the former wanting to take over the latter, but the German - try they must in return have landing rights in Toronto. Both countries are statemen-tal on the issue.

The Frankfurt airport is nine miles from the city international passenger, pay air for the busi-trip to the city and by taxi it is $3.00. Those visiting the Canadian troops of NATO in the Black Forest must pass through Frankfurt.

The city is the Trade Fair centre of Europe and began in 1200. It is also the centre of the European customer orders, during a trading
 session, most of the banks have set besides being a financial centre is also a convention centre, a gathering centre for musical events and international sporting events. The hotels are the most modern in the world and reservations must be made months in advance.

Frankfurt Stock Exchange

In the human world the Frankfurt Stock Exchange is the most famous in Europe. This most modern building with banks of electronic lights has a 2,000-seat gallery from which the public may view the entire trading floor. For the foreigner there are capsules to serve his language, which explains the correct procedures.

The stock exchange was built within the period 1921 and 1927 and seriously damaged in World War Two. Rebuilt in 1957 the floor stocks are traded daily from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. The trading in bonds, government bonds, industrial bonds, mortgages, takes place on another floor in another part of the building.

Buy or sell orders are executed by stock exchange dealers. These dealers act on behalf of the banks.
 In Germany only banks are permitted to receive orders from their customers and to handle all stock exchange transactions directly for them on the stock exchange. Private persons may not place their orders for stocks or bonds directly through the stock exchange; they place their order by means of a bank or security bank. The stock exchange dealers may execute transactions directly with other dealers on the floor or by means of the "kur-makler".

The Kursmakler

The gallery looks down on the square in the centre of the floor which is called the trading floor.
 Inside the trading post the Kursmakler and their employers operate. It is the task of the Kursmak-ler to determine the quotation of the different stocks according to the respective market situations.
 Each Kursmakler is entrusted with the purchase and the sale of securities of a certain number of companies.

Bank Offices

In order to be in permanent contact with the main offices of the banks, and to be able to receive
 customer orders, during a trading
 session, most of the banks have set up their own offices in the stock exchange building. They are otherwise located around the trading floor or in other rooms on the ground floor. The offices are equipped with telephones and teletype machines.

Seats of the "Freie Makler"

In addition to the stock exchange dealers, the Freie Makler participate in dealing on the floor. These men act as intermediaries between the banks. Transactions in the semi-official market are settled at the special tables.

Fifteen dark-haired girls in gold-colored blouses, grey mini-skirts, long red stockings, brown shoes with brass buckles, a red ribbon in their hair, act as messengers and carry the messages to various desks throughout the stock exchange. They earn $250 every four weeks but have a limited privilege of fringe benefits of travel.
 Questions on the semi-official market are not official. Securities traded on the semi-official market have not yet been admitted to the official trading area.

Tables of Press and Foreign

Newsmen

The Frankfurt Stock Exchange
 is so important to Europe, special tables, fully equipped with communication equipment, are allocated to the press. The daily reports in the newspapers relating to quotations and quotation trends enable all persons interested in securities to obtain immediate information and to make buying or selling transactions.

50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. S. Krzywy, esteemed citizens of Coleman marked their Golden Wedding Anniversary on June 25th and for the occasion many friends and relatives called in to congratulate the happy couple.

Of great interest to the many that called was the uniquely decorated table in the centre of the living room which displayed a three-tier wedding cake sitting on a bridal veil that Mrs. Krzywy had used at her wedding a half century ago. Also featured on the table was a plate containing a slice of wedding cake 50 years old.

The grand couple were married in Revelstoke, B.C. on June 25, 1921 and the following year came to Coleman where they have resided since. Mr. Krzywy now retired, worked in the Coleman mines for forty years. They both enjoy excellent health.

Serving their many friends and guests were Misses Saskia and Finka Van Delft of Blairmore.

ALBERTANS BUILDING TOGETHER - SOCIAL CREDIT

Inserted by the Alberta Social Credit League

The Commerzbank - Old Facade

New Building In Rear

The West German government realized the secret of their success to date was in keeping the people and the world informed. Thus the elaborate press facilities provided by the government for all types of news communication. The Bonn government feels the money for communication is well expended.
 During the session correspondents take notes which they will use later (within 24 hours) to question cabinet ministers or their assistants.

The foreign press corps has taken a leaf out of Canadian Sunday School books. A large chart is provided and laminate published in the country to which the correspondent reports is tabulated and gold or silver stars on the chart indicate his status, but also gives the German information ministry an idea of where news of West Germany is being published and how much.
 During June the British press led in all fields, but this could have been because of European Common Market talks.

Following each debate in the Bundestag the West German cabinet meets. At the conclusion of their meeting they meet in a special room of the parliament buildings and all foreign and German newsmen are notified to attend.
 The cabinet ministers are seated on a dais and the correspondents are seated in desk chairs in front of them. The moderator is the assistant to the Minister of Information. Each correspondent is allowed to ask the cabinet minister of his choice, questions on legislation, bills or about the recent session.
 Again modern facilities and translators are present if required.

Hellyer - Sacred Leader?

Paul Hellyer says he's been asked to consider running for the national leadership of the Social Credit party.

He says he's also been asked to consider running for the national leadership of the Progressive Conservative party.

He's already running for the leadership of the Liberal party.

That leaves only the New Democrats, and since they held a leadership convention back in April without Mr. Hellyer's name coming up, he must conclude they are not interested.

Meanwhile, Mr. Hellyer keeps saying that the Action Canada enterprise he heads is a movement, not a political party, but he doesn't close the door on making it a party if membership grows fast enough.

Nor has he closed the door on the Social Credit possibility, saying he would have further talks with officials of that party, before the Sacred leadership convention later this year.

Mr. Hellyer said Action Canada and Social Credit had a great many concerns that were similar about the direction in which Canada was moving.

This is more than Mr. Hellyer has been saying about his old colleagues, the Liberals, of late.

It is also more than most old-line federal politicians have been willing to say about Social Credit, at any time. When Roch LaSalle, the MP for Joliette, quit the Conservatives some weeks ago to sit as an independent and start his own party, he was asked why he didn't join Social Credit. His answer: 'I don't believe in Social Credit theories.'

The question wasn't even put to Eric Kierans after his resignation from the Trudeau cabinet - Mr. Kierans' scorn for Social Credit ideas has always been profound, and clearly expressed.

Could Paul Hellyer adopt himself to Social Credit? Throughout his life he's been something of a Bible thumper, so he might be able to fit into the Aberhart-Manning tradition in that department.

In expressing unease about some of the games Mr. Trudeau has been playing with Moscow and Peking, Mr. Hellyer has expressed an apparent preference for right wing approaches.

For years, Mr. Hellyer has been working on a book, which he now promises will be out this fall. It's not to be his political memoirs, apparently, which is a pity, because those would make good reading if he told all, a la his old pal Judy LaMarsh.

Rather, the book is to deal with the economic policies of Action Canada or, more precisely, the economic theories of Paul Theodore Hellyer, including his formula for stable prices and low unemployment, through controls.

These theories have been working in Mr. Hellyer's mind for years, and among his former intimates in the Liberal party there has always been a suspicion that they bore some resemblance to Social Credit ideas.

He used to propound them privately when he was minister of national defence, engaged in unifying the armed forces and ordering aircraft like the CF-5, for which nobody has been able to find a role.

When the unification crisis was at its height, Mr. Hellyer found diversion in attempting to explain his economic theories to his aides in the defence department. So far as is known, none of them ever managed to understand what he was talking about, leading to the suspicion that he was on the Social Credit kick in some way.

Those were the days when he would express a craving to be minister of finance, so he could put his theories to the test. He didn't get the chance, so he's putting them into his book. Apparently he feels his ideas will be as important to global economics in the '70s as were those of economist John Maynard Keynes in the '30s, '40s and '50s.

This is heady stuff, if you take Paul Hellyer seriously, something that a lot of people, including Pierre Elliott Trudeau, find difficulty in doing.

He's sending young people across the country to sell $10 memberships in Action Canada, door-to-door, - a technique copied from Jehovah's Witnesses, or Fuller Brush. Other methods and ideas of his seem to resemble those of Moral Re-armament, or the Up with People movement.

He has a staff of 10 paid workers and 15 volunteers, a spacious suite of offices and two bank loans to finance the movement, backed by his own considerable personal fortune. It's too soon to say whether this new Hellyer is a saviour, or some kind of a nut.

Some Pioneers For Kissin' Cousins

By doing a little mathematics I've come to the conclusion that I must be related to half the population of Canada.

I've just received a small booklet compiled by my uncle, Ivan C. Thomson of Ottawa. It sets forth the genealogy of my maternal ancestors in Canada.

Some people find their ancestors a huge bore. Others are afraid of skeletons in the closet. I find ancestors fascinating, as I try to picture them, think of the incredibly difficult lives they led, and wonder what characteristics I and my children have received from them.

My uncle's booklet is on high-colored romance. It deals in facts: births, deaths, names, property titles. But among the pages is the occasional laconic comment which makes me wish I could leap back into the 19th century and explore further.

My maternal great-grandparents were certainly not of the aristocracy. He was a ship's carpenter, and that's one reason he, Walter Thomson and she, Margaret Farrell, his new bride, set out from Donegal, Ireland, for St. John's, New Brunswick, where there was a ship-building industry. He was 20, she 19. It was 1834.

Within a few years, with three they had a happy life on the children, they moved to Upper Canada.

As a child, I saw the old homestead high on a hill overlooking the mighty Ottawa, and was thrilled.

But as I said, while the facts in the book are interesting, it's the little asides that inflame the curiosity.

The original family of Walter Thomson was eight children. They produced, among them, exactly 60 more Thomsons. Today, eight might produce 16.

Anna married James Paul. They had four children. "She also raised Johnnie Robertson." Now there's a story in itself. Who was Johnnie? Why did she raise him? What became of him?

John (Mountain Jack) was a lumber cruiser and a real bruiser in the lumberjack clashes of the times. "He had a terrible temper and was known up and down the Ottawa River as a scrapper." He died at 91, a pretty ripe age for a brawler who also sired 15 children in two marriages.

Catherine "married George Kemp who was real fond of liquor."

No other comment, except naming their children, with the last thus: "Jason was drowned at Temiskaming."

Another son, Walter, had nine children. My grandfather William had ten. A son James had eleven. The youngest daughter Jane, must have realized that even such a good thing as Thomsons could go too far, produced only two.

Anyone who can multiply can see why I have so many relatives. The original two had grown to 60 in two generations. Heaven knows how many the 60 produced.

But I'd really like to go back and talk to some of the old-timers. They were virile people in more ways than one.

★ HOROSCOPE ★

THIS IS YOUR LIFE
By TRENT VARRO

AQUARIUS - Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 living shouldn't cause you to be. This may appear to be a "hectic" come weary. There's a great week but there's no real need to future ahead in the zodiac for Sagittarius. He is patient as you can, social matters are working for you and wait! "behind the scenes" Try to remain calm and confident.

ARIES - March 21 to April 20 Many "bits and pieces" of your past life are beginning to fall into place in the "jigsaw" of daily living. Actually what is happening, is that you are beginning to assume a new personality.

PISCES - Feb. 19 to Mar. 20 Aspects in the sign of Pisces this week are very much as they are in the chart for Cancer, only there's more "surprises" involved. This period could mark the start of "something big."

TAURUS - April 21 to May 20 Your life is being governed very strongly by Uranus, the planet of surprises. Uranus can bring power and acclaim almost overnight; or can take away everything just as quickly.

GEMINI - May 21 to June 20 You'll probably be very busy and active this next week. The trouble is, that you probably just "won't have the time" to attend to essentials. Slow down a bit, and live a little easier.

CANCER - June 21 to July 21 For the past several weeks we've been saying your chart is GOOD! It still is, and there just aren't enough words in the language to make it any plainer. Marriage as indicated for many.

LEO - July 22 to August 21 No reason to be upset by minor irritations. There is plenty to be thankful for. Take a fresh and uninterested view of life and friends will come to you.

VIRGO - August 22 to Sept. 21 This weekend especially, is a most auspicious one for Virgo. Great changes can come about almost overnight. You are on the threshold of what is probably the highlight of your entire life.

LIBRA - Sept. 22 to Oct. 22 As Kipling once said, "If you can keep your head, when all about you, are losing theirs, and blaming it on you," you'll achieve tremendous gain. If not, you may have yourself "all up in the air."

SCORPIO - Oct. 23 to Nov. 21 A very romantic and lucky week in Scorpio. There is a note of warning however, don't "overdo" and repent it later. You act in to "pay the piper" if you're in an indiscriminate manner.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov. 22 to Dec. 21 The hum-drum aspect of day-to-day

Fresh Sunblushed Peaches Make Summery Cream Pie

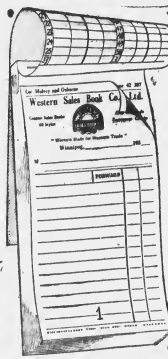

If you had been a hostess in Queen Victoria's time, you might have ended a high fashion dinner in great style by serving each guest a single fresh peach in a nest of snowy white cream. The peach would have cost $5.00, an exotic rarity. Today fresh, sunblushed peaches are for everybody. They're in good supply at market, and they taste particularly fine in a home-made Peach Cream Pie. It's a luscious, light as air affair, fresh and fragrant with the summer's delicious golden gems from Peachland U.S.A. This pie is easy to make ahead and chill in the refrigerator 'til serving time.

Peach Cream Pie

1 cup diced peeled peaches
1/2 cup sugar, divided
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
2 egg whites
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 baked 9-inch pastry shell
Additional peaches for garnish

Sprinkle diced peaches with 2 tablespoons sugar and lemon juice; set aside. Reserve 4 tablespoons sugar. Mix remaining sugar, gelatine and salt in small saucepan. Stir in milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine dissolves, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; add vanilla and almond extract. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Add reserved 4 tablespoons sugar gradually, continuing to beat until stiff. Drain peaches and add to gelatine mixture. Fold in beaten egg whites, then whipped cream; turn into baked pastry shell. Chill until set, several hours. Garnish with additional peaches, peeled and sliced, just before serving. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

The only acceptable containers are a safety can or a metallic or approved plastic container of not more than ten gallon capacity, with a proper cap or valve. APPROVED plastic containers and safety cans bear U.L.C. or U.L.I. labels. And, to avoid confusion over the contents and to warn of the dangers of using gasoline, EVERY container, whether otherwise marked or not MUST have a sticker attached in the prescribed form.
